

This is the RED brief. It's got two purposes:

For Re-briefs -

So the client's pulled the rip cord, and the work and most probably the strategy that inspired it has been rejected.

Its time to review what has got you to this point and where you've been.

Its time to start over, but with lots of learning added in.

Be careful – this is one project that will need very real attention.